Sarah,

I really feel that I am being targeted due to my military obligations.

I just learned that I must report back to Military duty tomorrow and am unsure if this means deployment or not. I have e-mailed this to Scott and I still haven't heard anything. I know that military duty causes an inconvenience to the company, but I have no choice but to fulfill my obligation.

Can you please ensure that he is aware of my whereabouts and that I have been trying to reach out to him?

Respectfully,
Michael R. Camacho

Sorry if you did not get this, It is in the calandar. I schedule it in the ops calandar. I spoke with Roger this morning and he agreed to take do the turn up. I have that email if you need it. Call if you need anything. If I dont answer it is because I am on Military Duty, but I will call back when I get a chance. Hope all is going well in the UK.
